

Reese Whitfield

RIVAL COMPANY REP · EVERGREEN & PINE CO.

“Here as a “friendly client.” Nobody is sure why.”

FOR REESE WHITFIELD’S EYES ONLY

Do not show these pages to anyone, including the host.

WHO YOU ARE (EVERYONE KNOWS THIS)

You are the partnerships director at Whitfield Hampers, Evergreen & Pine’s biggest competitor. Bart invited you as a “friendly client.” Half the room is wondering why you’re here.

PUBLIC RELATIONSHIPS

- Bart Pringle: met you for lunch several times this fall.
- Kendall Brooks: a friendly rival from the sales world.
- Walt Evergreen: knows your family business by reputation.

YOUR PARTY ACCESSORY

A silver brooch and a pocket full of business cards. No full costume needed.

HOW THIS BOOKLET WORKS

1. Before the party, read pages 1 and 2 alone.
2. Page 3 holds Rounds 1 and 2. Fold it so only Round 1 shows; open Round 2 only when called.
3. Page 4 is Round 3 and your notes: keep it shut until Round 3.
4. You may help a team, but never vote for yourself.

THE CASE (EVERYONE KNOWS THIS)

At 4:15 pm Bart Pringle, VP of Sales, opened a Secret Santa gift: a tin of peppermint fudge. About twenty minutes later Bart collapsed. Every gift had waited on the side-hallway table, and ten people are suspects.

YOUR EVENING AT A GLANCE

1. Arrive wearing your accessory and name tag.
2. Detective Holloway reads Script 1.
3. Three Rounds: reveal, ask, mission.
4. Ballots, then the big reveal.

You are innocent. You did not harm Bart, but you do have something to hide.

❄️ Your private background

KEEP IT QUIET

YOUR STORY

You grew up in the gift-basket trade; your aunt founded Whitfield Hampers. You are good at deals and even better at small talk.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

This fall Bart offered to bring Evergreen's biggest clients to Whitfield Hampers in exchange for a top job there. You told your boss it was done. On Thursday Bart backed out: "I'm going to be CEO here now." You looked foolish. At 3:05 pm today you gave Bart a silver tin of chocolates as a peace offering; Bart pocketed it unopened.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35-3:50 PM

During the toast you stood in the middle of the main hall, near Walt. You are in the 3:42 pm toast photo.

YOUR GOAL TONIGHT

Keep the secret deal quiet until Round 3, explain the silver tin, and help the teams solve the case.

GUESTS MAY ASK YOU

Guest cards don't name you directly, but anyone may chat with you. Answer from pages 1–2 and the Rounds you have opened so far.

How to play this booklet: open each Round (page 3: Rounds 1–2, page 4: Round 3) only when Detective Holloway calls it.

BEFORE THE PARTY, CHECK OFF

- ☐ I know my alibi for 3:35–3:50 pm by heart.
- ☐ I have my party accessory ready.
- ☐ I have NOT peeked at pages 3–4.

NOTES BEFORE THE PARTY

Rounds 1 & 2

REESE WHITFIELD · OPEN ONLY WHEN CALLED

❄ Round 1

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 1

REVEAL

- Bart invited you today as a “friendly client.”
- At 3:05 pm you gave Bart a small silver tin of chocolates as a holiday gesture. Bart put it in a jacket pocket, unopened.
- During the toast you stood in the middle of the hall, near Walt Evergreen.

ASK

Ask Kendall Brooks: "Is Evergreen & Pine a good place to work?"

MISSION

Hand a (pretend) business card to three people and pitch each one a gift basket.

IF ACCUSED

"My chocolates are still in Bart's pocket, unopened. Anyone can check."

✂ Fold here. Keep Round 2 folded under until Detective Holloway calls Round 2.

Round 2

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 2

REVEAL

- Your tin is plain silver from Whitfield Hampers' own range, nothing like a peppermint-striped tin.
- At lunch on Thursday Bart said, "I've got some housecleaning to do on Monday: a supplier that doesn't exist."
- You are in the toast photo, mid-hall, at 3:42 pm.

ASK

Ask Rowan Pike: "Who are Evergreen's ribbon suppliers?"

MISSION

Find someone from Sales and swap your best negotiating tip.

IF ACCUSED

"I'm a competitor, not a criminal. A scandal here would ruin my reputation too."

NOTES: WHO SAID WHAT?

Round 3

REESE WHITFIELD · OPEN ONLY WHEN CALLED

 Stop. Keep this page folded shut until Detective Holloway calls Round 3.

❄ Round 3

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 3

REVEAL

- Admit your secret: Bart offered to bring clients to Whitfield Hampers for a job, then backed out on Thursday.
- The “R.” on Bart’s note isn’t you. Bart always called you “Whitfield,” never Reese.
- Most of the trade buys ribbon from Hollyhock Trims. You’ve never heard of “Northstar Ribbon Supply.”

Ask Avery Quill: "Who orders the ribbon here?"

MISSION

Shake hands with the suspect you trust most and tell them why.

IF ACCUSED

"With Bart gone, my deal is gone too. I needed Bart, not the opposite."
