OFFICE MANAGER · EVERGREEN & PINE CO.

“Planned every detail of this party. Except the ending.”

FOR AVERY QUILL'S EYES ONLY

Do not show these pages to anyone, including the host.

WHO YOU ARE (EVERYONE KNOWS THIS)

You are the Office Manager of Evergreen & Pine Co. You run the building, the supply cabinet and, this year, the holiday party. Nine years in, you know where everything is and who borrowed it.

PUBLIC RELATIONSHIPS

- Bart Pringle: co-planned this party with you; Bart picked the Secret Santa theme.
- Drew Calder: the caterer you booked for today.
- Everyone else: comes to you when something goes missing.

YOUR PARTY ACCESSORY

A clipboard and a reindeer-antler headband. No full costume needed.

HOW THIS BOOKLET WORKS

1. Before the party, read pages 1 and 2 alone.
2. Page 3 holds Rounds 1 and 2. Fold it so only Round 1 shows; open Round 2 only when called.
3. Page 4 is Round 3 and your notes: keep it shut until Round 3.
4. You may help a team, but never vote for yourself.

THE CASE (EVERYONE KNOWS THIS)

At 4:15 pm Bart Pringle, VP of Sales, opened a Secret Santa gift: a tin of peppermint fudge. About twenty minutes later Bart collapsed. Every gift had waited on the side-hallway table, and ten people are suspects.

YOUR EVENING AT A GLANCE

1. Arrive wearing your accessory and name tag.
2. Detective Holloway reads Script 1.
3. Three Rounds: reveal, ask, mission.
4. Ballots, then the big reveal.

Your private background

KEEP IT QUIET

YOUR STORY

You started at the front desk nine years ago and built the company's back office from scratch. Last spring you designed the Build-a-Basket order form that doubled online orders. Everyone says you are the obvious choice for the new Operations Director job in January.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

Last week you saw a draft memo on Finley Dale's desk: Bart had told Walt Evergreen you are "not leadership material" and pushed for a golf friend to get the Operations Director job instead. You were hurt and angry. You planned to make your case to Walt in January, calmly and with facts.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35–3:50 PM

During the welcome toast (3:35–3:50 pm) you stood at the back of the main hall pouring cocoa. You are in the 3:42 pm toast photo.

YOUR GOAL TONIGHT

Keep your promotion story quiet until Round 3, protect your party's good name, and help everyone find out who tampered with your gift table.

GUESTS MAY ASK YOU

- G1: "Who else knew which box on the gift table was Bart's?" "Anyone who walked past. The tags all faced out, and Bart's was the green box."
- G4: "Who chooses and approves our packing-supply companies?" "I just request supplies. Finance sets up our suppliers and approves every invoice. That's Rowan Pike."
- G9: "Why were you rearranging the gift boxes at 3:15?" "I needed room for the cocoa bar. I didn't open anything, and Bart's box was still the green one."

How to play this booklet: open each Round (page 3: Rounds 1–2, page 4: Round 3) only when Detective Holloway calls it.

BEFORE THE PARTY, CHECK OFF

- ☐ I know my alibi for 3:35–3:50 pm by heart.
- ☐ I have my party accessory ready.
- ☐ I have NOT peeked at pages 3–4.

NOTES BEFORE THE PARTY

Rounds 1 & 2

EVERY QUILL · OPEN ONLY WHEN CALLED

Round 1

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 1

REVEAL

- You set up the Secret Santa gift table in the side hallway at 2:45 pm because the main hall was full of cocoa-bar tables.
- At 3:15 pm you rearranged the gift boxes to make room. Bart's gift then was a green box with a handwritten tag.
- At 3:30 pm you asked Facilities to dim the side-hallway lights "for ambience." In hindsight, not your best idea.

ASK

Ask Kendall Brooks: "Bart looked annoyed before the toast. Did something happen?"

MISSION

Welcome three people as if you are the host, and ask each one what gift they brought.

IF ACCUSED

"I built this party so you could all enjoy it. Why would I ruin my own event?"

✂ Fold here. Keep Round 2 folded under until Detective Holloway calls Round 2.

Round 2

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 2

REVEAL

- You took fudge off the caterer's menu this year (your initials are on the note). It always gets left half-eaten, so you chose clementines.
- The gold-foil gift labels came from your supply cabinet, but last week you moved the roll to the shared label printer by the copier. Anyone could print a tag.
- On Wednesday Bart said to you, "Someone in this building is in for a very awkward Monday." You worried it meant you.

ASK

Ask Emerson Gray: "Did Bart ever complain to HR about anyone?"

MISSION

Find the team with the fewest suspects crossed out and offer them one helpful fact.

"Check the 3:42 photo. I'm at the back with the cocoa pot."

NOTES: WHO SAID WHAT?

Round 3

AVERY QUILL · OPEN ONLY WHEN CALLED

 Stop. Keep this page folded shut until Detective Holloway calls Round 3.

❄ Round 3

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 3

REVEAL

- Admit your secret: Bart told Walt you weren't "leadership material" and pushed someone else for the job. You were furious, but you planned to win it fairly.
- You keep the company card register at the front desk. Each card belongs to one department and must stay with its holder.
- Walking to the toast at 3:33 pm, you passed the Finance office. The door was shut and the light was already off.

ASK

Ask Rowan Pike: "Why was the Finance office dark during the toast?"

MISSION

Before ballots, tell one team which piece of evidence you would trust most.

IF ACCUSED

"Angry? Yes. But a promotion means nothing to me unless I earn it."

You are the culprit. Only you know this. Your cover story is below.

Your private background

KEEP IT QUIET

YOUR STORY

You joined seven years ago, when Evergreen & Pine was half its size. You built the budget system, set up every supplier account and hold the Finance company card. December is your busiest month: you have stayed late almost every night closing out the year.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

Two years ago money got tight at home, and you set up "Northstar Ribbon Supply," a supplier that exists only as a P.O. box you control. You approved 14 invoices for ribbon that never arrived. You always meant to pay it back.

WHAT HAPPENED ON THURSDAY

On Thursday, the day before the party, Bart called you in: checking the budget, Bart had found the Northstar invoices. "Enjoy the party, Rowan. Monday at nine, you and I are seeing Uncle Walt." That evening you bought a tin of peppermint fudge at Maple Street Bakery (out of habit, you paid with the Finance card) and tampered with it. Back at the office you printed a gold-foil tag on the shared label printer, "To: Bart. From: Your Secret Santa," and wrapped the tin in a midnight-blue box.

WHAT YOU DID TODAY

Today at 3:30 pm you dialed the bank's budget line, hung up a minute later, switched off your light and locked your door. At about 3:40, during the toast, you slipped into the dim side hallway, swapped Bart's green box for yours and pushed the green box behind the coat rack. You were back in the main hall by 3:52.

YOUR COVER STORY

"I was on the year-end budget call in the Finance office from 3:30 until about 3:55, with the light off because of a headache."

HOW TO WIN

Stay calm and keep suspicion on others. You may lie, but never deny what an evidence card plainly shows: explain it away instead. You win if fewer than half of the teams name you.

GUESTS MAY ASK YOU

- G3: "Where were you between 3:30 and 4:00 pm?" Give your cover story: "On the budget call in my office, light off for a headache."
- G16: "Why has the shredder been so busy?" "Year-end cleanup. Seven years of old receipts."
- G20: "Did you see anyone in the side hallway this afternoon?" "No. I never went near the side hallway."

How to play this booklet: open each Round (page 3: Rounds 1–2, page 4: Round 3) only when Detective Holloway calls it.

❄ Round 1

REVEAL

- Share your cover story: you were on the year-end budget call in the Finance office from 3:30 to about 3:55 pm.
- You heard Kendall Brooks arguing with Bart near the sales desks around 3:20 pm. (This is true.)
- Bart had a famous sweet tooth: "Anyone who knew Bart knew a box of sweets would get opened first."

ASK

Ask Kendall Brooks: "What were you and Bart arguing about?"

MISSION

Compliment three people on their party accessories, and quietly remember who wears what.

IF ACCUSED

"I was on a call in my office. It's right there on the shared calendar."

✂ Fold here. Keep Round 2 folded under until Detective Holloway calls Round 2.

❄ Round 2

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 2

REVEAL

- About the toast photo: "Of course I'm not in it. I was on my call."
- About the bakery receipt: "Lots of people buy gifts on company cards in December. And Finley keeps spare keys to every desk drawer."
- Steer attention to Jesse Marlow, who carried peppermint fudge around all morning for a photo shoot.

ASK

Ask Jesse Marlow: "Where did your photo-shoot fudge end up?"

MISSION

Join a team's huddle and suggest a different suspect, without saying anything a card could disprove.

IF ACCUSED

"If I wanted to hide a purchase, would I really use my own department's card?"

NOTES: WHO SAID WHAT?

 Stop. Keep this page folded shut until Detective Holloway calls Round 3.

❄ Round 3

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 3

REVEAL

- About the phone log: "The call dropped. I sat in the dark waiting for them to ring back."
- About Northstar Ribbon Supply: admit only "a paperwork mix-up with a supplier" that you and Bart were going to sort out on Monday.
- Suggest that the "R." on Bart's note could mean Reese Whitfield. (If Reese isn't playing, remind everyone how angry Kendall was.)

ASK

Ask Emerson Gray: "Was HR looking into Bart's expenses?"

MISSION

Stay calm to the end. If a team asks for your final word, say: "Follow the money, but follow it correctly."

IF ACCUSED

"A mix-up with an invoice is no reason to hurt anyone. You're reaching."

KEEP IT QUIET

YOUR STORY

Five years ago you joined a three-person marketing team. This year you created the Pinecone Post campaign, a tiny gift basket with a handwritten note that customers send to neighbors, and it became the company's best seller.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

Friday morning you found Bart's slides for Monday's board meeting on the shared drive. Pinecone Post was in them with Bart's name on it, not yours. You planned to show Walt your original files after the holidays. Also: this morning you bought a box of peppermint fudge from Snowcap Sweets as a photo-shoot prop. That looks bad now.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35–3:50 PM

During the toast you stood near the front of the main hall filming Walt's speech on your phone. Skyler Moss borrowed your camera to take the 3:42 pm group photo, and you are in it.

YOUR GOAL TONIGHT

Keep the Pinecone Post story to yourself until Round 3, clear up the fudge misunderstanding, and help the teams solve the case.

GUESTS MAY ASK YOU

- G6: "What did you photograph for the website this morning?" "Cocoa, gingerbread and peppermint fudge from Snowcap Sweets. The photos look gorgeous."
- G8: "What happened to the fudge from your photo shoot?" "The warehouse team ate it at lunch. The empty white Snowcap box is in the studio bin."
- G15: "Whose idea was the Pinecone Post campaign?" Before Round 3: "It was a team effort." From Round 3: "Mine. Bart put Bart's own name on it."
- G19: "Who is in your welcome-toast photo?" "Skyler took it on my camera. I'll walk you through it once it's on the evidence table."

REVEAL

- You spent the morning shooting holiday desserts for the website: cocoa, gingerbread and a box of peppermint fudge from Snowcap Sweets.
- You lent your camera to Skyler Moss, the intern, for the welcome-toast group photo.
- During the toast you stood near the front, filming Walt Evergreen's speech on your phone.

ASK

Ask Avery Quill: "Why was the gift table in the dim side hallway instead of the main hall?"

MISSION

Arrange two people into a "holiday catalog" pose and announce the photo title out loud.

- In your phone video of the toast, three people are missing: Rowan Pike, Parker Lane and the caterer, Drew Calder.
- Snowcap Sweets packs fudge in white boxes. Bart's fudge came in a peppermint-striped tin, so it wasn't yours.

ASK

Ask Parker Lane: "Where were you during the toast?"

MISSION

Help one team put the evidence in time order on their timeline.

YOUR STORY

You built the Harbor Hotels account from one cold call into the company's biggest client: four hundred holiday baskets a year. Your commission from Harbor Hotels is most of your bonus.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

In November, Bart quietly moved Harbor Hotels into Bart's own name on the commission sheet. At 3:20 pm today you told Bart, "Give it back, or I'm going to Walt." Bart just laughed. Also, in October Reese Whitfield tried to hire you away. You said no, but nobody here knows.

YOUR STORY

Four years ago you joined as the only IT person. You were up for promotion to IT Manager this year, until Black Friday.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

On Black Friday the website crashed because Bart launched a surprise flash sale without telling you, but Bart blamed IT in front of Walt, and your promotion was put on hold. Also: you drew Bart in the Secret Santa. You bought a tiny potted succulent, wrapped it in a green box and wrote the tag yourself: "To Bart, from your Secret Santa. P.L." You put it on the gift table at 3:00 pm and never touched it again.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35–3:50 PM

From 3:30 to 3:55 pm you were in the server room fixing the projector for the raffle slideshow. Casey Lindqvist from Web Orders held the flashlight the whole time.

YOUR GOAL TONIGHT

Keep your Secret Santa pick to yourself for as long as you can, prove where you were during the toast, and help the teams solve the case.

GUESTS MAY ASK YOU

- G5: "Will the raffle slideshow actually work tonight?" "It works now. Casey held the flashlight while I fixed it, 3:30 to 3:55."
- G11: "Can you tell who printed what on the label printer?" "No. It's an old printer: it counts labels but keeps no names."

REVEAL

- You were in the server room from 3:30 to 3:55 pm fixing the projector for the raffle slideshow. Casey Lindqvist held the flashlight.
- On Tuesday you repaired the shared label printer by the copier. It prints the gold-foil labels and keeps no record of who printed what.
- If Evidence #3 (the green box) comes up, admit it: it was your gift to Bart.

ASK

Ask Avery Quill: "Who moved the gift boxes around this afternoon?"

MISSION

Find two people whose phone, laptop or projector is "acting up" and give each one (silly) tech tip.

IF ACCUSED

"I was in the server room with Casey for the entire toast. Ask Casey."

✂ Fold here. Keep Round 2 folded under until Detective Holloway calls Round 2.

REVEAL

- Your gift was a green box with a handwritten tag. The box Bart opened was midnight blue with a printed tag. Not yours.
- Black Friday: Bart launched a surprise flash sale without telling IT, the website crashed, and Bart blamed you in front of Walt.
- Bart always opened sweets the moment they arrived. Everyone in the office knew it.

ASK

Ask Emerson Gray: "Has anyone complained to HR about Bart?"

MISSION

Ask one team which suspect they have crossed out, then argue the opposite for one minute.

IF ACCUSED

"Why would I swap my own gift? My succulent was found unopened behind the coat rack."

REVEAL

- Admit you were annoyed that Bart blamed you for Black Friday, and that your promotion is on hold.
- On Thursday Bart asked you to recover a deleted spreadsheet called "Northstar – check." You restored it but didn't read it.
- The label printer's counter went up by one tag on Thursday evening, long after most people had gone home.

ASK

Ask Rowan Pike: "Did you stay late on Thursday evening?"

MISSION

Help one team check that every evidence number on their ballot is written correctly.

IF ACCUSED

"I lost a promotion, not my mind. And I gave Bart a plant."

HR DIRECTOR · EVERGREEN & PINE CO.

“Keeps everyone’s secrets. Professionally.”

FOR EMERSON GRAY’S EYES ONLY

Do not show these pages to anyone, including the host.

WHO YOU ARE (EVERYONE KNOWS THIS)

You are the HR Director of Evergreen & Pine Co. You look after hiring, policies, bonus letters and, tonight, the microphone: you are the party’s MC.

PUBLIC RELATIONSHIPS

- Bart Pringle: six years of hiring and staff events together.
- Walt Evergreen: you introduced Walt’s speech at the toast.
- Rory Bennett: your HR assistant.

YOUR PARTY ACCESSORY

A cream knit scarf and a holiday name badge. No full costume needed.

HOW THIS BOOKLET WORKS

1. Before the party, read pages 1 and 2 alone.
2. Page 3 holds Rounds 1 and 2. Fold it so only Round 1 shows; open Round 2 only when called.
3. Page 4 is Round 3 and your notes: keep it shut until Round 3.
4. You may help a team, but never vote for yourself.

THE CASE (EVERYONE KNOWS THIS)

At 4:15 pm Bart Pringle, VP of Sales, opened a Secret Santa gift: a tin of peppermint fudge. About twenty minutes later Bart collapsed. Every gift had waited on the side-hallway table, and ten people are suspects.

YOUR EVENING AT A GLANCE

1. Arrive wearing your accessory and name tag.
2. Detective Holloway reads Script 1.
3. Three Rounds: reveal, ask, mission.
4. Ballots, then the big reveal.

You are innocent. You did not harm Bart, but you do have something to hide.

Your private background

KEEP IT QUIET

YOUR STORY

You joined six years ago and turned a two-drawer filing cabinet into a real HR team. People trust you with their worries, so you know more secrets than anyone in the building.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

Last month HR received an anonymous complaint about Bart's expense claims. On Tuesday you met Bart behind closed doors. Bart left red in the face and told you, "When I'm CEO in January, HR will need a new director." You also carry the master keys to every office, and today you left them on your desk all afternoon.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35–3:50 PM

From 3:35 to 3:50 pm you were at the microphone in the main hall as MC of the welcome toast, in your cream knit scarf. You are in the 3:42 pm toast photo.

YOUR GOAL TONIGHT

Keep the expense complaint confidential until Round 3, explain the master keys, and help the teams find the truth.

GUESTS MAY ASK YOU

- G10: "Did anyone borrow your keys today?" "Nobody. They're still on my desk, and no office was found unlocked."
- G12: "Did Bart book any meetings for Monday?" "Yes: Monday 9 am with Walt, marked urgent. Bart said it was about money, not people."
- G17: "What was your Tuesday meeting with Bart about?" Before Round 3: "That's confidential." From Round 3: "An HR review of Bart's expense claims."

How to play this booklet: open each Round (page 3: Rounds 1–2, page 4: Round 3) only when Detective Holloway calls it.

BEFORE THE PARTY, CHECK OFF

- ☐ I know my alibi for 3:35–3:50 pm by heart.
- ☐ I have my party accessory ready.
- ☐ I have NOT peeked at pages 3–4.

NOTES BEFORE THE PARTY

EMERSON GRAY • OPEN ONLY WHEN CALLED

❄ Round 1

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 1

REVEAL

- You were MC of the welcome toast from 3:35 to 3:50 pm, at the microphone the whole time.
- Everyone was asked to come to the main hall for the toast, so the side hallway should have been empty.
- Bart booked an urgent meeting with Walt for Monday at 9 am and told you, "It's about money, not people, so HR isn't needed."

ASK

Ask Rowan Pike: "Were you at the toast? I didn't see you from the microphone."

MISSION

Lead a quick round of applause for the best holiday accessory in the room.

IF ACCUSED

"I had a microphone in my hand and forty people looking at me. Hard to sneak off."

✂ Fold here. Keep Round 2 folded under until Detective Holloway calls Round 2.

❄ Round 2

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 2

REVEAL

- About the scarf clue: yes, you wear a scarf, but at 3:40 you were at the microphone in front of everyone.
- Your master keys sat on your desk all afternoon. They are still there, and no office was found unlocked.
- You met Bart on Tuesday. Say only that it was “confidential.”

ASK

Ask Kendall Brooks: "Did Bart treat you fairly this year?"

MISSION

Remind every team, kindly, that suspects can't vote for themselves.

IF ACCUSED

"I spent the toast introducing Walt. Ask anyone who was there."

❄ Round 3

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 3

REVEAL

- Admit your secret: HR was reviewing a complaint about Bart's expense claims, and Bart threatened your job once Bart became CEO.
- The complaint was about Bart's own small expenses. It had nothing to do with suppliers or invoices.
- On Thursday at about 7 pm you saw Rowan Pike still at the copier, with the label printer humming.

ASK

Ask Avery Quill: "Who was meant to keep an eye on the gift table during the toast?"

MISSION

Ask each team captain for a one-word guess, with no reasons.

IF ACCUSED

"Bart's threat worried me. But I deal with problems in meetings, not with sweets."

YOUR STORY

This is your first job after college and your first office party. You have worked hard, stayed late and said yes to every task.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

Bart promised you a permanent job in January. On Thursday Bart said the job was going to “a friend’s kid” instead. Also, on Monday Bart asked you to cross out two names on the Secret Santa sign-up sheet and rewrite them so Bart could give Walt Evergreen’s gift. You did it, and it feels strange now.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35–3:50 PM

At 3:42 pm you stood on a chair at the back of the main hall and took the toast group photo with Jesse’s camera. You were in the hall for the whole toast.

Keep the job news to yourself until Round 3, explain the sign-up sheet, and help the teams solve the case.

REVEAL

- You helped Bart run the Secret Santa sign-up sheet on the break-room fridge.
- You took the welcome-toast group photo at 3:42 pm, standing on a chair at the back of the hall with Jesse's camera.
- From the sign-up sheet you know Parker Lane drew Bart. Say so only if someone asks who Bart's Secret Santa was.

ASK

Ask Avery Quill: "Did anyone help you set up the gift table?"

MISSION

Take a (pretend) photo of each team and give it a funny caption.

IF ACCUSED

"I was standing on a chair holding a camera in front of everyone!"

✂ Fold here. Keep Round 2 folded under until Detective Holloway calls Round 2.

❄ Round 2

REVEAL

- The toast photo is yours. Help anyone who wants to read it carefully.
- Admit that Bart asked you to cross out and rewrite two names on the sign-up sheet, so Bart could give Walt's gift.
- The rewritten names had nothing to do with Bart's own Secret Santa. Parker Lane drew Bart fair and square.

ASK

Ask Jesse Marlow: "What happened to the fudge from your photo shoot?"

MISSION

Find the quietest person on a team and ask for their best theory.

REVEAL

- Admit your secret: Bart promised you a permanent job, then gave it away. You were crushed.
- In the corner of your photo, through the hall doors, the side hallway is dim and empty except for one blurry shape by the coat rack.
- Bart once joked that the Secret Santa list was “the only spreadsheet in this company that adds up.”

ASK

Ask Parker Lane: "Did you know your gift never reached Bart?"

MISSION

Cheer loudly for whichever team finishes its ballot first.

IF ACCUSED

"I was upset about the job, but I still want to work here. I'd never ruin the company party."

YOUR STORY

You started Calder's Kitchen with one van and a very good gingerbread recipe. Corporate parties pay the bills.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

Bart has refused to pay your last invoice, $1,800 for the summer picnic, and has been telling other companies that Calder's Kitchen is "unreliable." You only took today's job because Avery asked you so nicely.

WHERE YOU WERE AT 3:35–3:50 PM

During the toast you were in the kitchen piping whipped cream onto cocoa cups with Jordan Ellis, the volunteer helper. You never left.

YOUR STORY

You grew up in the gift-basket trade; your aunt founded Whitfield Hampers. You are good at deals and even better at small talk.

YOUR SECRET: DO NOT REVEAL IT UNTIL A ROUND TELLS YOU TO

This fall Bart offered to bring Evergreen's biggest clients to Whitfield Hampers in exchange for a top job there. You told your boss it was done. On Thursday Bart backed out: "I'm going to be CEO here now." You looked foolish. At 3:05 pm today you gave Bart a silver tin of chocolates as a peace offering; Bart pocketed it unopened.

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 2

REVEAL

- You keep spare desk-drawer keys for Walt. They never left your cardigan pocket today.
- Last week Avery saw a draft memo on your desk about the Operations Director job. You feel bad about that.
- Company cards stay with their holders. You only carry the founder's office card.

ASK

Ask Rowan Pike: "Does anyone else ever use the Finance card?"

MISSION

Take notes for a team for two minutes, like a real assistant.

IF ACCUSED

"Spare keys don't buy fudge. Check whose card paid for it."

NOTES: WHO SAID WHAT?

This image shows a blank sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Round 3

FINLEY DALE • OPEN ONLY WHEN CALLED

 Stop. Keep this page folded shut until Detective Holloway calls Round 3.

❄ Round 3

Read only when Detective Holloway starts Round 3

REVEAL

- Admit your secret: you are Walt's godchild, and Bart planned to buy back the family shares Walt promised you.
- You never wanted to run the company. You only wanted Walt's promise kept.
- Bart left Walt a voicemail on Thursday night: "It's about money going out the door. I'll explain Monday."

ASK

Ask Avery Quill: "Who checks the company card register?"

MISSION

Read your team's final theory back to them, like a letter you're typing for Walt.

IF ACCUSED

"Walt's promise to me was safe while Walt was in charge. I had no reason to act now."

Notes

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are approximately 20 lines visible. The paper has a slight shadow on the right side, suggesting it's resting on a surface.
