US LETTER + A4

Your download has two folders, US-Letter and A4. They hold the same 25 files; only the paper size is different. Print from the folder that matches your paper.

FILE 99 IS FOR GROWN-UPS ONLY

The host plays Chief Inspector Crumb and may read file 99 before the party, to check puzzle answers. Keep it away from the children until after the vote.

PRINT THE BOOKLETS SINGLE-SIDED, THEN SEAL THE SLIPS

Each booklet is 4 pages. Round 2 (page 3) and Round 3 (page 4) are printed as slips with their own round seals. Before the party, a grown-up cuts out each slip and seal, folds the slip in half with the words inside and tapes the seal on. Single-sided printing stops a later round from showing through.

Players & Printing

FIND YOUR ROW

Who plays which booklet

Hand out booklets 10–15 (the six core characters) for every game. For more children, add booklets in number order: 16 for the 7th child, 17 for the 8th, and so on up to 21. The host plays Chief Inspector Crumb, not a suspect. The full case can be solved with the six core booklets, so a party of six gets the complete mystery.

Each total = 01 Host Guide (12 pages) + 03 Cast List (2) + 4 pages per booklet + 30 Evidence Cards (3) + 31 Puzzle Cards (3) + 32 Hint Cards (1) + 33 Name Tags and Badges (2) + 34 Ballots (1 page of 4 ballots per 4 kids) + 35 Detective Notebook (2 pages per child) + 99 Solution (5).

OPTIONAL (NOT IN THE TOTALS)

00 Start Here (4 pages, read on screen) · 02 Invitations (8 pages) · 36 Awards and Decor (4 pages). File 22 (48 pages) holds the same booklets as files 10–21: print one or the other, never both.

PRINTER SETTINGS

Print at 100% (“Actual size”), not “Fit to page.” Black-and-white works: text, frames, cut lines and the map all stay clear in grayscale. Card stock is nice for name tags, badges and awards.

Parent Questions

BEFORE YOU START

What age is it for?

Ages 8–12. A 7-year-old can play with a grown-up or older sibling reading along; under 7 is not recommended.

Is there anything scary?

No. Nobody is hurt and nothing is spooky. A trophy goes missing, the kids find it, the one who took it says sorry, and the party goes on.

What does the grown-up do?

Plays Chief Inspector Crumb: reads four short scripts, hands out evidence and puzzle cards, gives hints, and reads the ending from file 99.

How much reading is there?

Each round in a booklet is 90 words or fewer, in short sentences. Page 2 (about 150 words) is read quietly before the game starts.

Can we play in teams?

Yes. With 13–16 children, two kids share a character. For 14–24 (a class or club), use team mode: 3–4 teams each play the six core characters. Host Guide page 4 shows both.

Will it print in black and white?

Yes. Text is near-black on a light page, rounds are marked with words and dots as well as colors, and every line is dark enough for a home printer.

A NOTE ON HOW THIS GAME WAS MADE

The Golden Whisk Mystery is an original story. It was written with the help of AI writing tools, then edited, checked clue by clue for fair play, and laid out by the Clue & Candle Games team. Sprinkle Street and every character are made up.

Happy sleuthing, Inspector!
