

The Guest of Honor

LEAD DETECTIVE

“Everyone came to celebrate you. Now they need you to solve a mystery.”

◆ FOR YOUR EYES ONLY ◆

GUEST OF HONOR · LEAD DETECTIVE

WHAT TO WEAR

Dress style: wear something blue: a blue dress, a blue scarf or blue earrings.

Suit style: wear something blue: a blue tie, a blue pocket square or a blue suit.

At the party you are: the person this whole weekend celebrates, and tonight, the Lead Detective.

Who you know: Cece Marchbanks was planning your wedding. Blair Ashdown is your best friend and Person of Honor. You hired Reese Calloway for the cake and chose Bluebell Lake Inn, run by Emerson Pryce. Cece brought photographer Finley Marsh and florist Dakota Lane.

How this booklet works

Before guests arrive: read page 2 alone: your afternoon and your detective privileges.

Something Old · Round 1: open page 3 and read Evidence #4 aloud.

Something New · Round 2: the lower half of page 3, and Evidence #8.

Something Borrowed · Round 3: page 4, Evidence #12, then your Final Questions.

Something Blue · the reveal: you open file 99 and read the truth aloud.

Print this booklet single-sided (or cut along the dashed line on page 3), so later rounds can't show through.

◆ THE WEEKEND ◆

A celebration weekend at Bluebell Lake Inn. At the welcome tea, celebrated wedding planner Celestine “Cece” Marchbanks sipped from the Guest of Honor’s heirloom blue teacup, went upstairs to rest and never woke up. Everyone at this party had a reason to be at that tea.

Keep this booklet to yourself. Ask boldly, listen closely and enjoy your night.

You are not the culprit and you are not in danger.

You are the Lead Detective. Nothing in this booklet is a trick.

You and Cece

Cece Marchbanks was planning your wedding. Your family booked Cece a year ago: the most famous planner on the lake, brilliant, bossy and booked solid. You loved Cece's ideas and dreaded Cece's 6 a.m. emails. You chose Bluebell Lake Inn for this celebration weekend, and you hired Reese Calloway for the cake even though Cece tried to talk you out of it.

Your afternoon (share freely)

- 12:30 · Lunch. Cece asked Emerson to serve Cece's chamomile in your heirloom blue teacup at the welcome tea, "to test it for the toast photo." Cece also showed the table a little amber bottle of heart drops.
- 2:55–3:02 · You and Blair unpacked the teacup in the tea room and set it on the side table.
- 3:05–3:25 · You and Blair waited at the dock, right beside the boathouse, and greeted the guests off the 3:15 ferry.
- 3:25–3:30 · You walked back up the garden path with Blair. 3:30 · Welcome tea.
- 4:15 · Cece went upstairs to rest. 5:45 · Cece did not answer the door.

Your privileges

1. Guest of Honor Clues. In each round the host hands you one gold-framed card (Evidence #4, #8 and #12). Read it aloud to everyone.
2. Final Questions. Before anyone votes, you may ask any three people one question each. They must answer about the evidence honestly.
3. Something Blue. After the vote, you open file 99 and read the reveal aloud.

Your goal

Find out who, how and why. Ask good questions, draw the quiet guests in and enjoy every minute: this party is for you. You can win Best Detective too.

PLAYING TIP

Jot down every time you hear on your Detective Notes. Someone's story will not match the clock. Save your toughest question for Final Questions.

- You and Blair unpacked the teacup at about 3:00. It was clean, empty and dry.
- You and Blair were together at the dock from 3:05 to 3:25.

Ask

- Blair Ashdown: “Did you know Cece before this weekend?”
- Reese Calloway: “Why did Cece try so hard to stop me hiring you?”

Your mission

Introduce two guests who have never met, and tell each one something you love about the other.

ROUND 2 · READ ONLY WHEN CALLED

Read only when the host starts Round 2.

When the host hands you Evidence #8, read it aloud.

- From the dock you could see the boathouse the whole time. Nobody went near it between 3:05 and 3:25.

Ask

- Emerson Pryce: “Who asked you for a favor this afternoon, and when?”
- Dakota Lane: “You were under the tea room window. What did you see or hear?”

Your mission

Find the guest who traveled farthest to be here and ask them to tell the room one story about you.

NOTES

When the host hands you Evidence #12, read it aloud, slowly.

- Cece asked for your teacup at lunch, in front of everyone at the table. Anyone at lunch knew which cup Cece would drink from.

- Finley Marsh: “Where exactly were you between 3:10 and 3:27?”
- Emerson Pryce: “When did you last see the ‘Private Session’ sign, and where?”

Choose the three people for your Final Questions. Then gather everyone for one group photo before voting.

◆ THE WEEKEND ◆

A celebration weekend at Bluebell Lake Inn. At the welcome tea, celebrated wedding planner Celestine “Cece” Marchbanks sipped from the Guest of Honor’s heirloom blue teacup, went upstairs to rest and never woke up. Everyone at this party had a reason to be at that tea.

Never show this booklet to anyone. You may dodge questions about your secret, but never change the evidence.

You are innocent.

You did not harm Cece and you are not the culprit. You may still have something to hide.

Your story and your secret

Ten years ago you were a junior assistant at Marchbanks Weddings. In June 2016 Cece let you go for missing one deadline, the same week your grandmother was in the hospital. You never told the Guest of Honor. When their family hired Cece, you smiled and said nothing, and Cece pretended not to know you. Now you worry everyone will think you held a grudge.

Where you were (your alibi)

- 2:55–3:02 · In the tea room with the Guest of Honor, unpacking the blue teacup. It was clean and dry. Cece’s cream handbag hung on a chair by the window.
- 3:05–3:25 · At the dock with the Guest of Honor, beside the boathouse. You greeted the guests off the 3:15 ferry (if Tatum Reyes and Lennox Bell are playing, it was them).
- 3:25–3:30 · Up the garden path with the Guest of Honor, then tea.
- 5:45 · You knocked on Cece’s door for dinner. No answer. Emerson unlocked it.

Your goal

Keep your old job with Cece quiet until Evidence #1 comes out, then own it calmly. Help the Guest of Honor solve this: nobody ruins this weekend on your watch.

If someone asks you...

“Why did you touch the teacup?” → “The Guest of Honor and I unpacked it together at three. It was spotless.”

“Did you know Cece before?” → Before Evidence #1: “Only by reputation.” After it: tell the truth.

“Where were you at 3:15?” → “At the dock with the Guest of Honor, meeting the ferry.”

PLAYING TIP

Stay in character, share your “Share” lines when a round opens, and write down every time you hear on your Detective Notes. Someone’s story will not match the clock.

You are innocent.

You did not harm Cece and you are not the culprit. You may still have something to hide.

Your story and your secret

Three years ago Cece canceled your contract for a celebrity wedding, claimed your cake was late and kept your $4,000 deposit. The cake was on time: Cece's own team gave you the wrong address. It nearly closed Calloway Cakes. This year Cece tried to talk the Guest of Honor out of hiring you. Today you brought a jar of lavender-chamomile honey for Cece's tea as a peace offering, and now it looks terrible.

Where you were (your alibi)

- 3:00–3:30 · In the kitchen with Emerson Pryce the whole time, plating the cake tasting and brewing tea.
- 3:05 · Finley Marsh came to the kitchen door and asked Emerson for the tea room.
- 3:30 · You and Emerson carried the tea tray into the tea room. Emerson poured.

Your goal

Keep the canceled contract quiet until Evidence #2 is read. Prove the honey is innocent. Find out who really did it: that foxglove has been bothering you.

If someone asks you...

"Did you hate Cece?" → "Hate is a strong word for a cake person."

"Where were you from 3:00 to 3:30?" → "In the kitchen with Emerson the whole time. Ask them."

"What was in that honey?" → "Honey. Taste it." After Evidence #5: "The doctor says it's clean."

Never show this booklet to anyone. You may dodge questions about your secret, but never change the evidence.

You are innocent.

You did not harm Cece and you are not the culprit. You may still have something to hide.

Your story and your secret

In 2019 Cece's column called Bluebell Lake Inn "damp, dated, and run by an owner who argues." Bookings dropped by half and you had to remortgage. Last night you overheard Cece on the phone: "After this weekend, I'm moving the wedding to a proper venue." And at 3:30 today, it was you who poured Cece's chamomile into the blue teacup.

Where you were (your alibi)

- 12:30 · At lunch, Cece asked you to serve chamomile in the Guest of Honor's blue teacup at tea.
- 3:00–3:30 · In the kitchen with Reese Calloway the whole time.
- 3:05 · Finley Marsh asked you to keep the tea room empty until about 3:25 for teacup photos. You said yes, and that the 'Private Session' sign was in the front desk drawer.
- 3:30 · You poured tea for everyone, and Cece's chamomile into the blue teacup. You did not look inside it first.
- 5:45 · You unlocked Cece's door for Blair.

Your goal

Keep the 2019 column and the phone call quiet until Evidence #3 is read. Protect your inn's good name. Help find the truth.

If someone asks you...

"You poured the cup!" → "In front of everyone, from a pot the doctor says was clean."

◆ THE WEEKEND ◆

A celebration weekend at Bluebell Lake Inn. At the welcome tea, celebrated wedding planner Celestine “Cece” Marchbanks sipped from the Guest of Honor’s heirloom blue teacup, went upstairs to rest and never woke up. Everyone at this party had a reason to be at that tea.

Never show this booklet to anyone. You may dodge questions about your secret, but never change the evidence.

You are the culprit.

You put Cece's heart drops into the blue teacup. Nobody must find out.

Your cover story: "I photographed the teacup from 3:10 to 3:18 for the Guest of Honor's album. Then I went down to the boathouse for lake photos until tea. The cup was empty and perfect."

Your story and your secret

For two years you have quietly sold private photos from Cece's celebrity weddings to a gossip magazine to pay your debts. Last week Cece worked it out, wrote it in that leather planner and told you: confess by Saturday night, or on Sunday everyone hears it. At lunch Cece showed the table the amber heart drops. You told yourself a whole bottle would only make Cece too unwell to talk on Sunday.

What really happened

- 3:05 · You asked Emerson to keep the tea room empty for teacup photos. 3:08 · You took the 'Private Session' sign from the front desk drawer and hung it on the tea room door.
- 3:10–3:27 · Alone in the tea room. At about 3:14 you took the amber bottle from Cece's handbag and emptied it into the empty blue teacup. You wiped the bottle with your gray lens cloth and pushed both deep into the flower arrangement. You dropped your memory card under the window seat and left the sign inside without noticing.
- 3:27 · You left by the garden doors, met the Guest of Honor and Blair on the path and blurted, "Just came up from the boathouse."

Your goal

Don't get caught. Nudge suspicion toward Dakota's foxglove, Emerson who poured the tea, Reese's honey or Blair who unpacked the cup. Stay friendly, and aim for Best Performance.

If someone asks you...

"Were you in the tea room?" → "Yes, briefly, 3:10 to 3:18. The cup was empty and perfect."

"Is that your memory card?" → "Yes, it must have slipped out. That bottle was already on the table."

"You weren't at the boathouse!" → "I meant the lawn above it. I popped back into the tea room for my lens cap first."

PLAYING TIP

Stay relaxed and friendly. Answer with true details wherever you can; the best cover story is mostly true. Never change what an evidence card says.

Never show this booklet to anyone. You may dodge questions about your secret, but never change the evidence.

You are innocent.

You did not harm Cece and you are not the culprit. You may still have something to hide.

Your story and your secret

At midnight last night Cece made you redo every arrangement, then refused to pay your $900 rush fee and threatened to tell every planner on the lake that your flowers wilt. You also put twelve foxglove spires in the tall vases. Foxglove is toxic, and you know exactly how that looks.

Where you were (your alibi)

- 2:30 · You placed the cornflower arrangement on the tea room side table: stems and moss only.
- 3:00–3:30 · Alone in the garden, kneeling in the cornflower bed under the tea room window, cutting stems with one earbud in.
- About 3:15 · Bright flashes in the tea room window behind you, like a camera flash.
- About 3:27 · The garden doors creaked open and shut behind you. Moments later the Guest of Honor and Blair came up the path, talking with Finley.

Your goal

Keep the midnight argument quiet until someone asks about money. Show that the foxglove is a red herring. Find the truth.

If someone asks you...

“Foxglove?!” → “Labeled, in the lobby and terrace vases, nowhere near food.”

“Were you alone?” → “In the garden, yes. But look closely at any photo of that window.”

“Did anyone use the garden doors?” → “They creak like a ghost. Only once all afternoon, at about 3:27.”

WHAT TO WEAR

Dress style: a statement dress and a pincushion bracelet.

Suit style: a tailored suit with a tape measure around your neck.

At the party you are: stylish, dramatic and never without a needle and thread.

Who you know: Designed the Guest of Honor’s celebration outfit. Brought three garment bags and a sewing kit to the inn.

How this booklet works

-  Before guests arrive: read page 2 alone. It holds your secret.
-  Something Old · Round 1: when the host starts Round 1, open page 3.
-  Something New · Round 2: the lower half of page 3, below the cut line.
-  Something Borrowed · Round 3: page 4. Then everyone votes.
-  Something Blue · the reveal: the Guest of Honor reads the truth aloud.

Print this booklet single-sided (or cut along the dashed line on page 3), so later rounds can’t show through.

◆ THE WEEKEND ◆

A celebration weekend at Bluebell Lake Inn. At the welcome tea, celebrated wedding planner Celestine “Cece” Marchbanks sipped from the Guest of Honor’s heirloom blue teacup, went upstairs to rest and never woke up. Everyone at this party had a reason to be at that tea.

Never show this booklet to anyone. You may dodge questions about your secret, but never change the evidence.

You are innocent.

You did not harm Cece and you are not the culprit. You may still have something to hide.

If you are not in the game, nothing breaks. You are an optional character: the case can be solved without your booklet.

Your story and your secret

Last spring Cece dropped your designs from the Marchbanks recommended list after one late fitting, then wrote a sharp little blog post about it. Your orders fell by half. Your sewing kit also holds a small amber bottle of fabric glue, which looks a lot like a medicine bottle.

Where you were (your alibi)

- 12:30 · At lunch you saw Cece wave the amber heart drops.
- 3:00–3:30 · Upstairs in the fitting room (Room 2) with Peyton Lowe, pinning a hem. If Peyton isn't playing, you were there alone.

Your goal

Keep the blog post quiet until someone asks about Cece's reviews. Show that your amber bottle is only glue. Help solve the case.

If someone asks you...

"Is that an amber bottle in your kit?" → "Fabric glue. Smell it, then apologize."

"Where were you?" → "Upstairs in the fitting room, pinning a hem."

"Did Cece like your work?" → "Cece liked very few things."

PLAYING TIP

Stay in character, share your "Share" lines when a round opens, and write down every time you hear on your Detective Notes. Someone's story will not match the clock.

Your story and your secret

Last year a speaker failed during a celebrity first dance and Cece removed you from every Marchbanks wedding. This booking came from the Guest of Honor, not Cece, and Cece was trying to replace you. At about 2:54 you carried a speaker through the empty tea room and saw Cece's handbag on a chair.

Where you were (your alibi)

- About 2:54 · Through the tea room with a speaker: Cece's handbag on a chair, flowers on the side table, no teacup yet.
- 3:00–3:30 · On the lakeside terrace with Hayden Cruz, setting up speakers and the mocktail bar. If Hayden isn't playing, you were there alone.

Your goal

Keep the speaker disaster quiet until someone asks about vendors. Help the Guest of Honor; this wedding is your comeback.

If someone asks you...

"Why were you in the tea room?" → "Carrying a speaker through, at about 2:54. No teacup there yet."

"Did Cece fire you?" → "Cece fired everyone eventually."

"Where were you at 3:15?" → "On the terrace, watching the ferry come in."

Your story and your secret

Cece told half the lake you couldn't plan a picnic. This morning you emailed the Guest of Honor's family a draft contract, "in case you ever want a calmer planner." A printed copy is in your tote right now.

Where you were (your alibi)

- Until 3:15 · On the ferry across the lake with Lennox Bell (if Lennox is playing).
- About 3:13 · From the ferry you saw two bright flashes in a ground-floor window at the garden side of the inn.
- 3:15–3:20 · At the dock. The Guest of Honor and Blair met you. 3:20–3:30 · In the lobby with your luggage.

Your goal

Keep the draft contract quiet. Find the truth, and look very professional doing it.

If someone asks you...

"Did you want Cece gone?" → "I wanted Cece's clients, not Cece gone."

Cece secretly replaced your mocktail bar at the wedding with a celebrity mixologist. You found out from a group chat. Your bar also includes a “Sleepy Lavender” syrup made with valerian, which sounds like exactly the wrong thing tonight.

Where you were (your alibi)

- 3:00–3:30 · On the lakeside terrace with Remy Okafor, setting up the mocktail bar.
- 3:30 · In for tea with Remy.

Your goal

Keep the replacement quiet until someone asks about the wedding menu. Prove the lavender syrup never went near the tea.

If someone asks you...

“Sleepy Lavender?! ” → “For bedtime mocktails. It never left the terrace.”

“Where were you? ” → “On the terrace with Remy.”

“Were you angry at Cece? ” → “Shaken, not stirred.”

PLAYING TIP

Stay in character, share your “Share” lines when a round opens, and write down every time you hear on your Detective Notes. Someone’s story will not match the clock.

Something Old

ROUND 1 · READ ONLY WHEN CALLED

Read only when the host starts Round 1.

Share

- You were on the terrace with Remy from 3:00 to 3:30.
- Your bar has a valerian “Sleepy Lavender” syrup. Say so before someone finds it.

KEEP QUIET FOR NOW · Being replaced at the wedding, unless asked about the menu.

Ask

- Reese Calloway: “Which mocktail goes with your cake?”
- Remy Okafor: “Did you see me leave the terrace?”

Your mission

Invent a mocktail named after the Guest of Honor and describe it.

ROUND 2 · READ ONLY WHEN CALLED

Read only when the host starts Round 2.

Share

- The doctor (Evidence #5) says the drops were Cece’s own heart drops, not anything from your bar.

Ask

- Dakota Lane: “Are cornflowers edible?”
- Peyton Lowe: “Did Cece ever pay a bill on time?”

Your mission

Find the guest with the best laugh and make them laugh again.

OPTIONAL CHARACTER

JOINS AT 14 PLAYERS

WHAT TO WEAR

Dress style: a tropical-print dress and sunglasses on your head.

Suit style: a linen shirt, a straw hat and sunglasses.

At the party you are: sunny, chatty and always holding a brochure.

Who you know: Planning the Guest of Honor's honeymoon. Arrived at the inn this afternoon.

How this booklet works

Something Borrowed · Round 3: page 4. Then everyone votes.

Something Blue · the reveal: the Guest of Honor reads the truth aloud.

Print this booklet single-sided (or cut along the dashed line on page 3), so later rounds can't show through.

◆ THE WEEKEND ◆

A celebration weekend at Bluebell Lake Inn. At the welcome tea, celebrated wedding planner Celestine "Cece" Marchbanks sipped from the Guest of Honor's heirloom blue teacup, went upstairs to rest and never woke up. Everyone at this party had a reason to be at that tea.

Never show this booklet to anyone. You may dodge questions about your secret, but never change the evidence.

You are innocent.

You did not harm Cece and you are not the culprit. You may still have something to hide.

If you are not in the game, nothing breaks. You are an optional character: the case can be solved without your booklet.

Your story and your secret

Cece sent you clients and demanded a fat referral fee for each one. Last week Cece doubled it. You also carry travel sleeping tablets for long flights, which looks bad tonight.

Where you were (your alibi)

- Until 3:15 · On the ferry with Tatum Reyes.
- 3:15–3:20 · At the dock. The Guest of Honor and Blair met you.
- 3:20–3:30 · In the lobby with Tatum and the luggage.

Your goal

Keep the referral fees quiet. Show that your tablets are still sealed. Help the Guest of Honor, who still needs a honeymoon.

If someone asks you...

“Sleeping tablets?” → “For long flights. Still sealed.”

“Where were you at 3:10?” → “On the ferry with Tatum.”

“Did Cece owe you?” → “Other way round, sadly.”

PLAYING TIP

Stay in character, share your “Share” lines when a round opens, and write down every time you hear on your Detective Notes. Someone’s story will not match the clock.

Something Old

ROUND 1 · READ ONLY WHEN CALLED

Read only when the host starts Round 1.

Share

- You came on the 3:15 ferry with Tatum.
- You carry sealed travel sleeping tablets. Show them.

KEEP QUIET FOR NOW · The referral fees, unless someone asks about money.

Ask

- Blair Ashdown: “Where should the honeymoon be?”
- Tatum Reyes: “Do you pay referral fees?”

Your mission

Ask three guests their dream vacation and “book” the best one.

ROUND 2 · READ ONLY WHEN CALLED

Read only when the host starts Round 2.

Share

- Cece doubled your referral fee last week. (Share this only if someone asks about money.)
- Your tablets are still sealed in the box.

Ask

- Shiloh Park: “Did Cece keep your fees in the planner?”
- Finley Marsh: “Did Cece ever sell your photos?”

Your mission

Find the guest who has traveled farthest and ask for their best travel tip.

NOTES

Read only when the host starts Round 3.

 Share

- From the lobby, 3:20–3:30, you saw nobody walk toward the tea room.

 Ask

- Emerson Pryce: “Who was at the front desk at 3:08?”
- Hayden Cruz: “Can I get a Sleepy Lavender for the flight home?”

Your mission

Give the Guest of Honor a postcard-style good-luck wish before the reveal.
